President Bio:

Ms. Angela Adkins is the founder and Executive Director of Sunday Supper, a Los Angeles-based Nonprofit Organization. Sunday Supper has been a supporting force within the homeless and underserved community, focusing on families as the organization prides itself in supporting their physical needs while addressing their emotional needs. Angela believes the two functions allow individuals to establish a foundation for rebuilding their lives. Angela established Sunday Supper due to the challenges she is met with as she supports her own child who suffers from a mental illness and substance use disorder and homelessness. Angela has a strong faith in the Lord, along with her heart, passion and commitment to making a significant change in the community, it is what drives her to continuously support those in the community that need it most. Angela's love and support for the work she does and assistance the organization provides, is unwavering. The goal of the organization is to be their support system and to work with families by providing educational services to families so they are equipped with the tools needed to assist their loved ones living with a mental illness.
